LOCAL PARLORS MAKE FINE SHOWING IN PARADE

Much Credit Due To Those Who Assisted

Wednesday was a big day for Redwood City despite the fact that the town was practically deserted for the day. Redwood City was in San Francisco in full force and was well represented both in the giant parade which made its way along Market street and in the throngs which lined the street for hours watching the spectacle.

Redwood City's float was pronounced one of the most striking in the parade by those who witnessed the procession, and occupied a fitting place in the line of march. The float represented in a vivid manner the Indian period of the county's history, and was a work of art. The float was built by Mr. Young and represented a scene in the early days of this section with an Indian village in the foreground and the hills in the background. On the float were several of the Native Sons and Native daughters in Indian costume. Those on the float were Mrs. Dora Wilson, Mrs. William Offerman, Mrs. Sophie Offerman, Arthur Collins, C. L. Collins, A. S. Lindenmeier, Keith Douglas and Edward Young.

One of the conspicuous points of interest in the Redwood City float was the White Wolf, a Cherokee Indian of Menlo Park, who wore his full dress of a medicine man. The costume worn by White Wolf is valued at $10,000.

Redwood Parlor N. S. G. W. and Menlo Parlor N. D. G. W. marched behind the float attired in Indian costume. The showing was unique and illustrative of the period which they sought to portray.

San Carlos was represented in the parade by a float representative of the discovery of the bay of San Francisco by Don Gaspar De Portola and his party were in search of the bay of Monterey, but became lost and found the great bay of San Francisco by mistake. They first sighted the water from a point in the hills not far from where San Carlos now stands. For this reason San Carlos depicted the discovery which has meant so much to the world—the Bay of San Francisco.

The Menlo Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters made an excellent showing in the parade with a float representation of the old adobe of many years ago at the entrance of the Johnson property by Messrs. Mc and McGlynn, two Irishmen, who gave Menlo Park its name, calling after their home in Ireland. The members of the Menlo Parlor marched behind their float, the Native Sons in overalls with shirts to match and the Native Daughters in old fashioned costumes.

Railway for Injury to Eyes

Claiming that while he was standing near the Burlingame station early in the month of this year he was struck in the eye by a mail sack thrown from a moving Southern Pacific train, and suffered serious injury, Charles Huebler this week filed suit against the company for $100,000. Huebler is an electric welder and alleges that because of the accident his eyes have been impaired and that he will be forced to find employment in other line of work. He is also said to have suffered from a fractured skull and a concussion of the brain as a result of the accident. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney L. Simmons.

An Invaluable Record

FIFTY-FIVE years ago when F. H. Peterson was working on a threshing machine he fell and was badly injured on a large hay fork. Peterson was given up by the doctors who thought that he could not recover. He could not speak English at that time, and as there were few around here who understood his native language, Sweedish, he was not well acquainted, and when he left town an invalid he was soon forgotten.

But Peterson did not die of the wounds he received here in 1879. He recovered and has been living in Monterey county for many years. This week he returned to Redwood City for the first time since he was injured. He has since learned to speak English, and can now gratify the desire which he has been nourishing for these fifty-five years—that of reading what the paper had to say of his accident here in 1870.

Only in the files of the Times-Gazette could the long desired item be found. The Times-Gazette, then as now, was the repository for the news of the day, and its files are used time and time again as an undoubted authentic history of Redwood City, since the earliest times of the county.

LOCAL TALENT ENTERTAINMENT NEXT FRIDAY

Next Friday evening at the Sequoia Union High School Auditorium about thirty-five local ladies and gentlemen will forget their dignity for one evening and romp through one of the funniest and most clever entertainments seen in Redwood City for a long time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremire Robkins Singin Skule Beginment" will be the attraction that will convulse the audience from start to finish which reaches a peak when these well-known people do their stuff in order to win the silver medal.

Rehearsals are well under way and are making fine progress; those who have had a peep at them declare the piece is full of fun and catchy music being entirely original and different from anything ever given here. Mr.

Mrs. Ben Walker as Polly Rumpus

Roy Innes of San Francisco is assisting the direction of the play. He was formerly conected with Mr. Willard the author, in professional direction and because of his knowledge of the entertainment, has consented to play the part of Mrs. Robkins, the "skulema'am," which promises to be an outstanding feature of the Singin Skule. All our local citizens will play the other roles. Among those who will be seen in prominent parts are: Mesdames Ida Zimmerman, H. A. Clattenburg, Forsythe, Laramouh, Guy Abbott, Ben Walker, Miss Marian Cummings, and Messrs. John Layng, Chas. aso, Earl Rush, Guy Abott, J. D. Hedge, R. S. Murray and many others.

The entertainment is given under the auspices and for the benefit of the Ladies Guild of St. Peters Episcopal church to raise funds for their new parish house, now under construction.

Tickets can be procured from them and also at Locks Drug store, where they are now on sale.

BRIDGE BIDS OPENED BY SUPERVISORS MONDAY

San Mateo County supervisors opened bids Monday for the construction of the new bridge across San Francisquito creek at the end of University avenue. Action on the matter was deferred until word had been received from Santa Clara county supervisors as the two counties are jointly financing the proposition.

Plan Outlined To Clear Tax Titles

A plan proposed by C. E. Skidmore for the clearing of titles of parcels of property at present held by the state for failure of its owners to pay taxes, was accepted by the board of supervisors this week at their Monday meeting.

According to Skidmore, there are about 700 pieces of land in this county which have been deeded to the state for non-payment of taxes. These pieces of land are now resulting in an annual loss to the county, as state property is not subject to taxation, and are laying idle serving no useful purpose.

It is proposed by Skidmore to work in conjunction with the office of the state comptroller and with the county auditor and check al sales of property in this county since 1876. All errors due to failure of officials to make entry in the records will be corrected and the title of all property searched. When this check is completed, Skidmore will prepare a list of property now held by the state and will call upon the state to make an authorization sale. In this sale the property will be sold off in parcels to the highest bidder.

Of the money obtained by such a sale, Skidmore states, one quarter goes to the state. This is used by the state for the education of orphans of American soldiers killed in the late war. Of the remaining three quarters, Skidmore asks one half for his work, the other half goes to the county treasurer.

Skidmore had laid his plan before the district attorney and the county auditor before appearing before the board of supervisors and had satisfied those officials of the validity of his proposition. When he had explained his plan to the board of Supervisors, that body voted to allow him to go ahead on the terms which he proposed. The contract to be signed by tht county will be submitted to the district attorney for his approval before any contract is entered into.

James B. He was United States Marshal during the Wilson administration and served nearly four years under the Harding regime. It was suposed that he had Congressional aspirations as it was hinted some time ago that he might make the race against Free next year, but the appointment given him removes that. Mr. Holohan is a splendid character who is loved by a large circle of friends throughout the state. Mr. Holohan is a nephew by marriage of D. K. Frasier who resides on Brewster street in this city.

Mystery Shrouds Finding Woman's Body on Coast

What may be an important development in the search for the remainder of the mutilated body of Miss Bessie Furgeson of Oakland was made in this county Thursday with the finding on the beach in the north end of this county of the diemsmbered trunk of a woman. The body had been badly mutilated. The head had been scalped, the lower limbs were missing and the lower jaw had been torn off. As many of the missing members of the body correspond with the portions of the body of Miss Furgeson found on the marsh on the east side of the bay, it is thought that the body may be that of the young Oakland woman. That this may be a clew to a double murder is also considered.

The gruesome find was reported to the coast guard station on the San Francisco side of the county line and Constable A. S. Ladini was immediately notified and headed a party which went in search of the body. The body was taken to the office of Deputy Coroner W. .C Lasswell at Daly City, where an inquest was held yesterday.

An inquest was held at the Lasswell Undertaking Parlors on Thursday afternoon before Coroner W. A. Brooke. No clues as to identity of the body has developed, however, and no additional information was obtained. The police of the entire bay region are now working on the evidenre so far uncovered and hope to piece the fragmentary disclosures into a whole.

Alleges Fraud in Securing Property

Suit was filed this week by James Pizzo, administrator of the estate of Maria Pizzo, his mother, against his sister, Gladys Pizzo, charging that a deed was obtained by the latter from the decedant when Maria Pizzo was of unsound mind and incompetent to conduct business.

It is claimed by the plaintiff that the defendant, at a time when the mother was suffering from concussion of the brain and four days before her death, took advantage of the condition of her mother to secure a deed to certain property in the Mission Street Extension Homestead. The property is valued at about $9,000. In the suit the plaintiff seeks to have the deed executed by his mother, set aside.

CHURCH TO BE DEDICATED ON NOVEMBER 8

Work is now being rushed on the construction of the new Methodist Episcopal church on Broadway and Brewster street, and arrangements have been made to have the dedication program on Sunday, November 8. Dr. Tully Knowles, president of the College of the Pacific, will conduct the dedication.

Dr. Knowles is one of the most prominent educators of the state, and is an orator of marked ability. He is well known on the peninsula, having for many years been president of the College of The Pacific while that institution was located at San Jose. He is now living at Stockton, where the college has erected its new buildings.

The completion of the new building will be the culmination of an energetic campaign which has been carried on for several years by the members of the church and the last several pastors to obtain a larger and more more modern building in the newer residential section of the town. This work has been carried on particularly by Rev. Harry Owen, the present pastor, to whose efforts a greater part of the success of the store is due.

The building which is now nearing completion will be of the Spanish type of architecture, closely resembling that of the Sequoia Union High School, which stands directly across the street from the new church. Details in the construction have been planned to harmonize with the architecture of the high school.

Kick of Horse Fatal to San Gregorio Boy

The little town of San Gregorio was saddened last Friday by the death of Joseph Duarte, nine-year-old San Gregorio boy who passed away at the Community hospital at Beresford. The boy while on an errand for his mother, passed too near a nervous horse on his father's farm in San Gregorio, and was kicked by the horse. The boy was struck on the head and his skull was crushed.

As the boy failed to return his mother sent a younger sister to find him. She found him almost dead in the barn yard, with his head cut open by the hoof of the horse. He was rushed to the hospital but died within a few hours without having regained consciousness.

HISTORIC STORE DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire of unknown origin early Tuesday morning seriously damaged the building at present occupied by the Owl Garage on Main street. While the building, being of brick, was not badly damaged outside, but suffered considerable damage inside, as the floor and the ceiling were badly burned. Three cars which were in the garage were somewhat damaged by the flames and the garage equipment was badly damaged. The loss to the buiding was covered by insurance.

The building was one of the first brick structures in Redwood City. It was built in the early fifties, and was one of three brick buildings which were built about the same time. The other two were a store occupied by W. C. R. Smith, now occupied by the Fox-McNulty Lumber Co. and a building built as a store on Bridge street by Livingston. This latter stood where Prices hotel was later built.

The building which suffered in the blaze last Tuesday was built by J. V. Diller, one of the pioneer merchants of Redwood City, who had the brick store built to replace an old board building used by him as a store. This wooden building which still stands at the rear of the present building, played an important part in the history of Redwood City. It was first occupied by a man by the name of Shaw, who used it as a general merchandise store. When the county was first organized, the need was found for a court room and in the absence of a better building in which to administer justice, the upper floor of the old wooden building was used.

Here many of the oddest trials of the county took place. It is related that the only book of law at that time was a little book enitled, "Every Man His Own Lawyer." This book was in great demand and was passed around from attorney to attorney as cases came up in court.

The story is also told in connection with this old building of a famous gambler who was found guilty of some petty crime, and for want of a jail, was locked up in the improvised court room over night. When the evening came on the prisoner descended from his bastile over the roof of a lean-to and spent the night at his favorite avocation in the Monongahela saloon, then the 'bright light' of the town, which occupied the old shed next to the old brick structure. When morning came he climbed into jail again and was found safely imprisoned by the guard when the business of the court opened. It is said that he had a wonderfully successful night of it, and that around the table where he dealt the cards, sat the judge, the jailer and jury.

Following the death of Diller the store was managed by D. F. Cooper and later by a man by the name of Armstrong. It was purchased from the Diller estate by the present owner, P. P. Chamberlain, who had associated with him a man by the name of Wilcox. The store was known as Chamberlain and Wilcox for many years and later when Wilcox left the business was conducted by Chamberlain for many years.

For a long time while running the store Chamberlain was also county treasurer and the money of the county was kept in the old building in the safe of the store. The express office was also located there for many years.

THE JORDAN PLAN

AS the history of the future shall be written in the schools of today, it is vital that the teacher lay in the minds of children the foundation of a sane and wholesome background from which to develop international amity and intelligent abhorrence of war."

In the above statement, Dr. David Star Jordan expresses a profound truth and adds a prefix to a great plan of international peace.

The plan of Education for Peace looks courageously toward the ultimate abolition of international war as a legitimate sequence of disagreements between nations or between individuals of different countries. Its central purpose is the mobilization of teachers in all lands, most immediately in America, in order that their combined influence and that of their pupils may be thrown solidly on the side of peace.

After receiving the Raphael Herman $25,000 award, Dr. Jordan's plan of education to develop International Justice and Friendship was adopted by the World Federation of Education Associations at its meeting at Edinburgh, Scotland, last month. The plan received hearty indorsement by the attending delegates from most of the countries of Europe and North and South America. Twenty official, and forty unofficial delegates attended from the United States.

The co-ordination of educational forces throughout the world, stabilizing as far as possible by teaching, the trend of the future toward peace and international understanding along the lines of the Jordan Plan will without question go a long ways toward that mental and moral disarmament which must precede and accompany military disarmament, and also bring about a better undersanding among men.

ANOTHER DEVELOPMENT

SPEAKING of development reminds us of the growth of railway service through Redwood City. Sixty-two years ago the editor of this paper contemplating the little wheezing train which puffed its way from San Francisco to Mayfield and back again in a day, wrote: "When the road is opened to San Jose, no doubt, the company will find it to its advantage to run two trains a day each way, and then we can go which ever way we please and return the same day."

That was only sixty-two years ago, well within the memory of many of our citizens now living, and this week the railway company began its new schedule which includes 32 passenger trains each way daily. Ten trains run through here to San Francisco in two hours in the morning and 11 trains from San Francisco pass through here in an hour and a half during the rush season in the evening.

Quite a difference in sixty-two years, and yet this is only one of the developments which has taken place in Redwood City during that time. In those days it was impossible for a man to live here an d yet have his business in San Francisco. But today a good portion of our population is made up of commuters. The improved train service has made it possible for a man to leave his home here in the morning and be in his office in San Francisco in less than an hour's time. With constantly improving service we can look for a greater and greater development of the peninsula and particularly of Redwood City, where conditions for living are so favorable.

—o—o—o—

75 YEARS AGO

SEVENTY-FIVE years have passed since California was made the thirty-first state in the Union, but what a change has been wrought in those seventy-five years. California then a region of which very little was known, and the greater part of that little erroneous. Now we have here on the Pacific slope the greatest state of the Union, one of the best known districts of the world. In a few years California has developed from a state of semi-barbarism to the pleasure-ground of the United States.

As we look back over the change which the past three quarters of a century have made in the state, we wonder what will be the appearance of California in seventy-five years more. What will be the conditions here in the year 2000 A. D.? We look for a greater development of the state in the next twenty-five years than in all of the past three-fourths of a century. But what the next seventy-five years will bring forth not even the fertile brains of our realty dealers can foretell.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

TWO Washington fire guards were arrested for smoking and for leaving campfires burning in the forest they were "protecting." An Oregon man was fined $100 for refusing to help put out a fire he had started, saying that he had lived for 47 years and he "knew all about fires."

The Northwest has just gone through a bad fire season; it would have been worse if extraordinary precautions had not been taken. It will take a lifetime to put many burned-over areas back to the condition they were in last spring. A law that punishes the careless, defiant criminal user of our forests, is a good law that needs rigid enforcement.

CITY BOARD APPROVES CREEK BRIDGE PLANS

The plans of Horace Gardiner and A. J. Fromm for constructing a bridge to cover the creek for about one hundred feet north of Broadway were considered by the board of trustees of Redwood City at their meeting last Tuesday and found approval by the board. It was proposed by Gardiner and Fromm to bridge the creek which separated their property on Broadway for the depth of their property, and cover the bridge with asphalt, making a short street at right angles with Broadway.

On the street thus formed the two men to plan to erect substantial business buildings cornering on Broadway. It is hoped by Fromm and Gardiner that the street thus started by them will eventually be continued by other property owners to join with Marshall street to the north and may in time be continued by the city to Center street, near the city hall, traversing the bed of the creek, which would be covered with a culvert.

Now that the propostion has received the approval of the board of trustees it will be necessary for the petitioners to place the matter before the United States War Department and receive the sanction of its board of engineers, as the creek is still considered navigable water and under the jurisdiction of the United States government. Upon receiving the permission of the War department the local men plan to commence at once the construction of their buildings here. The proposed improvements will total an expenditure of about $100,000 and include a modern hotel building.

Cleaning Without Odor by the

F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded bp our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening gasoline smell in your clothes.

Billion Really a Vast Sum

When a billion is spoken of it means a huge sum to the average mind, but to express or visualize the sum in any unit that can be comprehended quickly is not easy. Probably one of the easiest ways of comprehending it is to imagine spending a dollar a minute and then realize that since the birth of Christ there had been only a little more than a billion minutes. By the end of 1925 there will have passed just 1,011,990,000 minutes.

"Thirty years of Service"

SEPTEMBER 9, 1895, our Folsom Power House at *Folsom, California, the first hydro-electric plant of commercial importance in the United States, sent forth precious energy at 11,000 volts over 23 miles of lines that lighted streets and houses and provided motive power to operate the street cars at Sacramento.

This event marked the beginning of an era of expansion and development for the state. It was the motive for a great celebration on Admission Day at Sacramento.

Since that time progress has been rapid. Great plants have been constructed; thousands of miles of line have been built; an efficient organization has been perfected, providing light—heat and power to 2,200,000 people, until today, California leads in the production of hydro-electric energy and "Nowhere is power so cheap as in California."

In doing this for the people in the State, many problems were encountered; many failures occurred; fortunes, yes! even lives were sacrificed to give the customers the benefits they enjoy.

The policy of this company has been and will continue to be one of increasing its facilities in advance of the needs of the territory served.

It always has been and will continue to be the desire to aid in every way, the progress of this great growing commonwealth.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

The Mrs. Charles Merrill property on the highway, consisting of 10 acres, and formerly owned by her mother, Mrs. Moulton, was sold this week to Norwood Smith, the Palo Alto realty broker. The price paid for the holding is said to be $45,000.

Elmer Tennant was here from his home in Colorado this week calling on friends. Over a quarter of a century ago Tennant was well known in the social affairs of the town. Mr. Tennant assisted in putting down the tunnel for services for St. Patrick Seminary in the nineties. For many years he has resided in Colorado.

Miss Elizabeth Leggett of Atherton entertained at a supper dance last night in honor of Miss Isabel Dodge, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Roland B. Dodge of Palo Alto, who is leaving today for Pomona College.

Those present were the Misses Isabell and Ruth Dodge, Margaret and Esther Lemos, Lois Martin and Adeline Martin of Redwood City; Messrs William Leggett, Jay Lawshe, Leighton Nelkirk, Tom Nelkirk, Howard Nelkirk, Frederick Frost, William Huston, Sinclair Dodge and William Duckwalter.

The Superior court on Thursday confirmed the sale of the Philip W. Yates home on Valparaiso avenue to George F. Scollard for $28,000. Mr. Scollard is a wealthy retired insurance man who is a golf enthusiast and motorist. He has no family excepting a wife. He loves California and expects to spend his remaining years here. Mr. Scollard is quite an acquisition to Menlo Park.

The dance under the auspices of the Incorporation Club takes place this evening in Duff and Doyle hall. The dance is to continue until 2 o'clock. Good music and a good time is assured all. Come and trip the light fantastic.

Martin Clark and his charming daughter, Miss Louise Clark, returned from a three months' eastern trip last Sunday. Mr. Clark visited his old home in Illinois and Wisconsin. At the latter place there was a reunion of the Clarks at which three generations were represented. The travelers enjoyed the trip but are glad to be back again in Sunny California.

Mrs. Thomas Stentiford and her charming daughter returned from a trip to Europe last Sunday. They were gone for three months visiting relatives in England and Scotland during their travels.

The friends and neighbors of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge enjoyed his wonderful speech over the radio Wednesday evening at the banquet given at the Fairmont hotel. Besides the senator, Vice-president Dawes, Governor Richardson, Ex-Senator Phelan and other men of national prominence spoke. Those who have heard the senator for years say the speech on Wednesday night was the best effort of his career. His melodious and eloquent voice and beautiful phrases came over the air and were received in perfect order and were heard as plainly as if the speaker were only a few feet away. This is certainly a wonderful age.

The Native Sons and daughters made a big showing in the mammoth parade in San Francisco last Wednesday, their unique costumes won much applause as the large float, a replica of the old Menlo Park gates, the portals of the past. Among the dresses worn by the Native Daughters was one worn by Mrs. Quin that was formerly the property of Mrs. Leland Stanford, who used it on numerous state occasions while her husband was senator. The dress attracted considerable attention.

St. Edwards hall, the old Coleman mansion now owned by St. Patrick's Seminary and recently leased by local and Palo Alto people for a school of creative education will open on September 28.

An especial feature of the school will be the handwork which will correlate with the regular subjects ordinarily taught as theory or memory work only. The emphasis on esthetic lines—art, music, appreciation of all forms of beauty in anotheim of the school. Work of this sort will be a regular part of the school program.

With eight acres to expand in, the outdoor opportunities of the new school should be extensive.

The children will be handled in small groups—no larger than 12.

To quote the statement in the announcement sent out by the school, its purpose is "the unfoldment in each individual child of his high responsibility to himself and to others so provide for that child opportunities to create and develop many sides of his nature through sound educational foundation in all school subjects so that the next step into high school will find the child intellectually well prepared to carry on. In addition to this, we hope that the children may establish with us standards of taste which are the inevitable results of association with what is fine and excellent in the past and in the present. The school aims to foster an appreciation for good craftsmanship to encourage tolerance of mind, and to stimulate the child to work not for marks, but for the "joy of working."

William Feeley went out and killed a big buck deer in the foothills back of Menlo Park last Saturday. The antlered beauty weighed 150 pounds. Mr. Feeley is a crack shot who was a sharp shooter during the war in France having been attached to the Ninety-first Division. W. T. Casey accompanied Feeley on the deer hunt. He is a veteran hunter.

Jack Curran, connected with the Anglo-London and Paris Bank of San Francisco, with his wife and two pretty children, have given up their apartments in Laurel Court and moved to their city home. They were guests at Laurel Court all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton and their children will return to their San Francisco home about October 1. They have been spending the summer as usual at their country place in Menlo Park.

Jens P. Nielson a native of Denmark aged 45 years committed suicide last Monday by placing his head underneath the rear coach of the 12:30 north bound train. According to an eye witness Nielson deliberately placed his neck on the rail just as the train was starting the trucks of the rear coach passing over it severing the head from the body. John Layng, the deputy coroner, was notified and in a short time the remains were conveyed to Redwood City. The rash act was no doubt prompted by illness as Mr. Nielson had been ailing for some time and he seemed to think he would suffer a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Nielson and his wife and three children moved here from San Mateo about two years ago, buying the Carroll property on the highway, where they conducted a store. Mr. Nielson also conducted a real estate business. About fifteen years ago Mr. Nielson was a gardner for the late C. H. Holbrook at his estate here, later going to San Mateo, where he became prosperous as a real estate operator and grocer. Mr. Nielson was a pleasant, affable good natured man of considerable ability, and had many friends. All who knew him liked him for his pleasing manner and optimistic way. His death is a shock to the people of Menlo Park.

The body was cremated on Tuesday.

Yesterday Robert Sturzenegger brought in a deer that weighed 190 pounds. It was the lagest ever shot in Monterey county.

Woodside Notes

This has been a quiet week in Woodside, most of our residents having spent at least a portion of the week assisting in the celebration at San Francisco.

Frank Nash made a trip to Paradise to superintend the removal of the family Lares and Penates from Paradise to Woodside. Mr. Nash has brought a handsome saddle horse in whose company he expects to explore the trails and by-ways of Woodside.

T. C. Tibbs and family motored to Fresno for the holidays. Motor trouble on the road delayed them for several hours but they arrived at their destination in time for breakfast.

Mrs. Henry Jenkins has been spending the week with relatives in Berkeley.

Alda Silva added to her athletic laurels on Tuesday at the Kezar stadium in San Francisco when she won three gold and one silver medal. She took first place in the javelin throw and the fifty-yard dash and was a member of the winning relay team. She took second place in the hurdles.

Charles T. Bradley has returned from Lake Tahoe and reports a fair season as regards everything but fishing. Fishing was poor this year during the whole season.

Rev. Benjamin St. John will go to Benecia this week to attend the dedication of a new church for the congregation to which he ministered for eleven years. In consequence there will be no church service on Sunday but all are invited to attend the Sunday school services which will be held as usual.

Mrs. William Dimond will entertain the young ladies of the choir at her home on next Friday afternoon.

Miss Ruth Gabriel will be a weekend guest of Mrs. Bradford Leavitt. Dr. Leavitt left for Pasadena on Thursday.

Woodside stood upon its collectivy feet and cheered when the news came over the air on Thursday night that the missing aviators had been rescued in Hawaian waters.

PALM BEACH BACKGROUND FOR "COAST OF FOLLY"

"The Coast of Folly," Gloria Swanson's latest starring picture for Paramount, which will be the feature at the Sequoia Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday Sept. 16-17, has an American background of the aristocracy of wealth as best exemplified in the exclusive orbit of Palm Beach, the "coast of folly," and New York.

In the prologue to "The Coast of Folly," Nadine Gathway, a young beautiful and tempestuous girl, is married to a middle-aged millionaire who is prosy and narrow by nature.

Bored by the dull rigidity of her married life she deserts him and her baby, faring forth in the world to seek the romance her heart craves.

But mother love triumphs in the end. Years later after a colorful career, she is drawn irresistibly to her daughter when the latter becomes involved in a difficulty.

Miss Swanson portrays Nadine Gathway ,and also Joyce Gathway, the daughter. She brings a dramatic finesses that is fairly genius into the characterizations.

True to life, the husband passes into the discard. How his wife finds happiness eventually on the very brink of destruction is a powerful theme of the story.

Allan Dwan, who directed Gloria in "Manhandled," "Her Love Story," and "Wabes of Virtue," produced the story from Forrest Halsey's adaptation of the novel by Coningsby Dawson.

The fact that Arthur Edeson photographed "The Talker," the Sam E. Rork First National feature showing at the Sequoia Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 14-15, is the highest recommendation possible for a motion picture to those who love beautiful photography. For Edeson is the artist who photographed that remarkable First National production, "The Lost World." The preceding Rork production, "Inez from Hollywood," is another Edeson photographic contribution, and his more recent is "The One Way Street," both First National opuses.

Although long recognized by the motion picture industry as one of the leading camera artists, Edeson's fame is no longer confined to his profession but is world-wide, due to his "Robin Hood" and "The Thief of Bagdad," as well as "The Lost World," the sensational A. Conan Doyle story which is now winning phenomenal success throughout the country.

Anna Q. Nilsson and Lewis S. Stone are co-featured in "The Talker," with a notable supporting cast.

Spray in Spring for Oak Moth, Tate Advises

The present pest of Oak moths has attracted considerable notice lately because of the defoliation of practically all of the oak trees of the county. This could have been avoided according to Horticultural Commissioner Tate by spraying earlier in the season. Spraying when the caterpillars are fuly developed will do little toward decreasing the pest. In commenting on the ravages of the worms, Commissioner Tate said:

"A great many complaints have been received by this office recently regarding the caterpillars on the oak trees. I warned property owners last autumn that an attack by this insect was to be expected this year and this spring advised spraying when the first brood of caterpillars made their appearance. Where this advice was followed correctly, no injury has been reported. I do not advise spraying now except where it is desired to rid the premises of the caterpillars, because the damage, as far as the oaks are concerned, has been done and the numbers which might be destroyed at the present time would make no appreciable difference in the infestation next season. The caterpillars which are now in evidence will change into moths which lay the eggs for the over winter larvae. The larvae which hatch from eggs laid on the white oaks perish when the leaves fall in the winter and only those survive which are reared from eggs laid upon live oaks. For this reason the spring brood is usually very much less than the second and if spray is applied in the spring, in the proper way, the last brood is not apt to give any trouble though occasionally two sprayings are necessary. Under ordinary conditions, the insect parasites which attach this insect are able to keep it under control but for various reasons this does not occur every year.

"Contrary to general belief, the oak moth is not a new pest, as it is a native insect and is particularly numerous in the central coast counties. In 1913, and for a year or two after, great damage was done by this pest in botn San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

"Commercial growers of asters have reported considerable injury to their bloom by what, on investigation, proved to be thrip. As the insect attacks the base of the petals, the shape of the flower renders the application of remedies rather difficult. Nico dust of sufficient strength, applied with a good duster, is recommended."
